

Breast Screening Appointment: what happens next?

Well done for attending your breast screening appointment

Your mammogram will be checked by a person who will understand them.

You will be sent a letter in about 2 weeks.
The letter will tell you if it was OK, or if it needs doing again.

Sometimes it has to be done again because there may have been a problem with the machine or your X-ray.
You may have to go back to the Hospital if it needs doing again.

Even if your mammogram result is normal, you should still check your breasts every month

If you want any help or advice phone the Cameo Centre on 01302 320112 or the Community Nurses Learning Disabilities on 01302 796145
