Covid-19 extra

Patient information bulletin

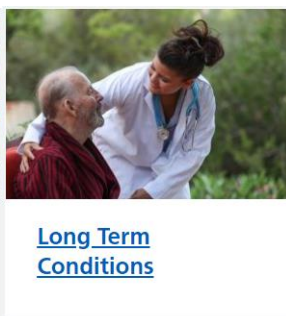

This is a special edition of our regular COVID-19 bulletin, focused on patient health information.

Why? Quality health information can help a patient's ability to manage their condition effectively, improving quality of life and help them make informed decisions about their care.

To give you an idea of what's out there, we've put together a number of links to resources related to COVID-19 and patient health information that you can use with patients.

HEE have collected resources related to COVID-19 and different patient groups – click the pictures below or for the main page, click here.
